INTRODUCTION

Total Clarity Wealth Management, Inc. (Total Clarity) is an investment adviser registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Total Clarity Wealth Management offers advice regarding mutual funds and stocks as well as other products such as: bonds, options, government securities, certificates of deposit, Unit Investment Trusts (UITs), Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) and 529 College Savings Plans. Total Clarity PreActive Accounts utilize the clearing and custody services of Interactive Brokers, LLC (Interactive), member FINRA/SIPC, an unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer.

ITEM 4 - SERVICES, FEES & COMPENSATION

In its capacity as a registered investment adviser, Total Clarity Wealth Management offers various advisory services as further disclosed in its Part 2A Brochure. The programs offered include a fee-based program entitled the “Total Clarity PreActive Account”. The PreActive Account is not a wrap fee program since each transaction charge is billed directly to the client’s account.

Advisory Services

Total Clarity Wealth Management PreActive Accounts offer clients a fee-based account for which the client will pay a quarterly fee for portfolio review and on-going asset management services. Clients will maintain an account that contains any of the following: stocks, bonds, options, government securities, Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs), Unit Investment Trusts (UITs), and/or certain types and classes of mutual funds, cash, and cash equivalents. PreActive Accounts will utilize leverage meaning the account will use borrowed capital (for an investment), expecting the profits made to be greater than the interest payable, through the use of Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) that short equities or through shorting specific equities. Selling securities short, means to borrow securities and then sell them with the anticipation that the price will go lower than the price at which they were sold. This strategy is often utilized to hedge investments but runs the risk of losing an amount greater than the initial margin requirements in a relatively short period of time.

The Total Clarity Wealth Management PreActive Account program offers clients portfolio review and asset management services on a discretionary basis only. Discretionary asset management services allow the Advisory Representative to make buys, sells and exchanges within the account as the Advisory Representative deems appropriate, without obtaining the client’s prior consent to the transaction(s). Discretion approval is given when the client signs the PreActive Account Agreement and initials Section 2 of this agreement. The Advisory Representative will determine the securities to be purchased and sold in the account and will alter the securities holdings from time to time without prior consultation with the client. Unless otherwise expressly requested by the client, Total Clarity will manage the account and will make changes to the allocation as deemed appropriate by the firm and the Advisory Representative. The client is able to discuss with the Advisory Representative their desire to discuss any recommendations before buying or selling any securities in their account, but in order to trade at our custodians, the Advisory Representative must be given discretion on all accounts. All clients will be sent, by the custodian of their account, either by mail or electronically, confirmations of any trades done in their account.

PreActive Accounts are not managed based on individual client goals, objectives and time horizons and financial circumstances, but rather all accounts are managed utilizing a similar strategy and holdings. PreActive Accounts are actively traded and holds some securities in an account for periods of 30 days or less. Advisory Representatives will be reasonably available to the client to provide advice, make recommendations and execute transactions.

Advisory Representatives will gather information on the client's financial history, goals, objectives and financial concerns and assist the client in determining if a PreActive Account is suitable for them. Clients must have an annual income of $200,000 annually over the last 2 years or an adjusted Net Worth (excluding primary residence) of $1,000,000 or more to be able to open a PreActive Account with Total Clarity. Clients must also select a Moderate or Significant Risk Tolerance on the Total Clarity Risk Tolerance Questionnaire. The client will establish an account with Interactive Brokers, LLC and then the Advisory Representative will modify the portfolio of the account to match the current PreActive Strategy.

Advisory Representatives will contact clients at least annually, or at the client's request, to discuss the Total Clarity Wealth Management PreActive Account investment portfolio and to update the client's financial information when any changes have occurred. Clients can request more frequent reviews and set thresholds for triggering events that would cause a review to take place. Generally, Advisory Representatives will make changes to clients' portfolios based on many factors including shifts in the economy, changes in the management of a fund or company in which clients' assets are invested, and market shifts and/or corrections.

The strategies employed by the manager of PreActive Accounts requires a special skill set and experience, therefore if the manager is not able to actively manage the accounts for an indefinite amount of time, all leveraged positions will be settled to reduce the risk to all PreActive Accounts.

Generally, the Advisory Representative who solicited the client will conduct the annual review. Clients are advised they should notify their Advisory Representative promptly of any changes to their goals, objectives or financial situation. Failure of the client to notify the Advisory Representative of any such changes could result in investment recommendations that do not match the client's needs.

Advisory Fees

Opening an Account (initial fees): The initial pro-rated fee is charged in arrears and is based on the average daily balance of the account over the previous quarter. Initial advisory fees will be collected directly from the account, provided the client has given Total Clarity Wealth Management written authorization to do so.

An Established Account (ongoing fees): Ongoing fees will be charged quarterly, in arrears, based on the average daily value of the account over the previous quarter. Fees are charged to and collected directly from the advisory account early in the quarter. Clients will be provided with a fee invoice that identifies:

1. The average daily value of the account on the last day of the previous quarter (from which the advisory fee is calculated)
2. The quarterly advisory fee to be charged to the account(s)
3. The account(s) from which the fee will be deducted

If the account does not contain sufficient funds to pay the quarterly advisory fee, Total Clarity Wealth Management has limited authority to sell or redeem securities within the advisory account in a sufficient amount to pay the fee. The client may reimburse the account for advisory fees paid to Total Clarity Wealth Management, with the exception of a qualified retirement account.

Clients can make additions to or withdrawals from the account, provided the account continues to meet minimum account size requirements of $100,000.

Fees are based solely on account balance(s) and are not based on a share of capital gains upon or capital appreciation of, the funds or any portion of the funds. Fees are in accordance with the following blended fee schedule:

TOTAL CLARITY PREACTIVE STANDARD FEE SCHEDULE
Minimum Initial Investment: $100,000

Account Value	Maximum Annual Fee
$0 to $500,000	2.50%
Next $500,001 to $1,000,000	2.50%
Next $1,000,001 to $3,000,000	2.50%
Next $3,000,001 to $5,000,000	2.50%
Next $5,000,001 and above	2.50%

Your Advisory Representative will negotiate your specific fee with you, based on the maximum fee schedule outlined above. We make exceptions to our general fee schedules under certain circumstances (e.g., responsibilities involved, accounts or groups of accounts which are expected to have significant capital additions in the future, anticipated future earning capacity, related accounts, pre-existing client, account retention, etc.). In such cases, lower fees, stepped fees or different payment arrangements can be negotiated with each client separately and will be described in your PreActive Account Agreement. Fees vary from client-to-client and are detailed on the Total Clarity PreActive Agreement you will sign; however fees will not exceed the schedule shown above. Therefore, your Advisory Representative will charge more or less than another Advisory Representative. Further, the PreActive Accounts have an active trading strategy that can result in the total fee (advisory fee plus transaction fees) for these accounts being high and could be excessive compared to industry standards.

The fee schedules can be graduated schedules or a flat schedule, meaning the same fee for all account values. For a graduated schedule, more than one fee rate will apply to the account if the total account value is $500,001 or more at the time of valuation for the purposes of the fee calculation and if a fee schedule is agreed upon that reduces the fee the larger the account value. Total Clarity retains a portion of the advisory fees equal to 0.04% of the account value at the end of each quarter to cover administrative costs. A portion of the net advisory fee at times is paid to the Advisory Representative's supervisor and/or branch manager. The remainder of the fee is paid to your Advisory Representative. Total Clarity is able to change the above fee schedules upon 30-days prior written notice to you.

Costs Associated with a Total Clarity Wealth Management PreActive Account

The Total Clarity Wealth Management PreActive Account program will cost the client more or less than if the client purchased services separately. Costs that will affect the services if obtained separately or that the client can control if services are purchased separately include trading costs and the asset management fee. Additionally, clients are advised that an advisory account, as compared with a traditional commission based account, will be more costly to the client, particularly during periods when trading activity is less. Consequently, clients will find that maintaining the advisory account at times will result in a higher annual cost. During periods when trading activity is heavier, such as when the account is first opened and during periods of increased market movements, advisory accounts can result in lower annual costs.

Additional Fees & Transaction Charges

In addition to the advisory fee, you will also pay fees for any custodial services, account maintenance fees, taxes, and other fees associated with maintaining the account. Total Clarity and its Advisory Representatives do not control or share in any portion of such fees.

Furthermore, the client will pay additional fees to the Exchange Traded Fund(ETF) companies from which any were purchased. Such fees are compensation to the fund manager and are not shared with Total Clarity Wealth Management. Total Clarity offers a wide range of Exchange Traded Funds.

At our custodians, Institutional or Advisory share classes (share classes that do not pay 12b-1 fees) of mutual funds are typically charged a higher transaction fee for buys and sells of these products. However these funds have lower expenses and therefore should result in being a lower cost to the customer, but this varies for each fund.

For all custodians, some countries charge a foreign Transaction Tax on foreign equity security purchases where the underlying non-US securities are from French or Italian issuers. This tax is levied by the French or Italian governments. Total Clarity and its Advisory Representatives do not control or share in any portion of these taxes.

Termination of a Total Clarity PreActive Account

In the event an account is closed, the advisory fee will be calculated based on the average daily value of the account from the beginning of the previous quarter until the termination date (the date the assets were transferred out of the account or the date Total Clarity is notified that the account will be closing). Final fees will be debited from the account from which the management fees were pulled or an invoice will be mailed to the client's address of record.

The Total Clarity Wealth Management PreActive Account Agreement will be terminated by either party upon receipt of a written notice of termination. Termination by a Client is effective upon receipt of the notice by Total Clarity unless a specific date is requested in the notice. A Client may terminate the agreement without penalty within 5 days of signing the account agreement. If you terminate an account(s) within the first calendar year after opening the account(s), you will be charged a $200 administrative fee which will be added to any final advisory fees. This fee can be waived at Total Clarity's sole discretion. This fee is not charged on accounts that are closed due to a transfer of the assets to another Total Clarity account. This fee will be paid in the same manner as the Asset-Based Fee or an invoice will be sent to the client if the assets are no longer in the account.

Upon termination, early redemption fees or similar fees for mutual funds or other products held in the account will be applicable as described in the fund's prospectus. Some other broker-dealers will not accept certain assets that are held in your account. Total Clarity will use reasonable efforts to follow your instructions regarding the disposition of the assets in your account to the extent permitted by law and policies of the firm. Please Note: Total Clarity will discontinue billing after the date specified in the termination notice even if the assets are still in the account, but Total Clarity and our Advisory Representatives have no fiduciary responsibilities for the account, once the Total Clarity Agreement has been terminated.

Conflicts of Interest

Advisory Representatives recommending clients participate in the Total Clarity Wealth Management PreActive Account program will receive compensation as a result of a client's participation in the program. The amount of compensation paid to Total Clarity Wealth Management and the Advisory Representative will be more than what Total Clarity and the Advisory Representative would have received if the client participated in other programs available through another broker/dealer or paid separately for investment advice, brokerage and other services. Clients are advised that Advisory Representatives have a financial incentive to recommend advisory account programs (i.e., Total Clarity Wealth Management PreActive Accounts) over other programs or services.

Total Clarity and Advisory Representatives buy or sell securities for themselves that are also recommended and bought or sold for Clients. Total Clarity Wealth Management, its officers, directors, employees and Advisory Representatives should not trade in such a way as to obtain a better price for themselves than for clients.

To mitigate these conflicts of interest, this disclosure has been provided to you. If you have any concerns about the appropriateness of your Advisory Representative's recommendations based on your financial situation, you should discuss these recommendations with another financial professional

ITEM 5: ACCOUNT REQUIREMENTS & TYPES OF CLIENTS

Minimum Account Size

Total Clarity requires a minimum amount of assets to be held in an account for the purpose of obtaining asset management services. A minimum deposit of $100,000 (cash or securities) to a brokerage account at Interactive Brokers, LLC is necessary in order to participate in investment advisory services through a PreActive Account.

However, under certain circumstances, Total Clarity waives the minimum investment size requirement and accept clients with less than $100,000. Such circumstances include but are not limited to, situations in which additional assets will soon be deposited; or when the client has other accounts with Total Clarity since the consolidation of these accounts for the purposes of quarterly fee calculations would bring the value of the accounts closer to a fee schedule breakpoint.

Total Clarity Wealth Management does not represent, warrant or imply that the services or methods of analyses used by Total Clarity can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate clients from losses due to major market corrections or crashes.

No guarantees can be offered that a client's goals or objectives will be achieved. Further, no promises or assumptions can be made that the advisory services offered by Total Clarity Wealth Management will provide a better return than other investment strategies.

Clients

Total Clarity generally offers the Total Clarity Wealth Management PreActive Accounts to individuals, non-ERISA retirement plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations and other similar business entities. Clients must have an annual income of $200,000 annually over the last 2 years or an adjusted Net Worth (excluding primary residence) of $1,000,000 or more to be able to open a PreActive Account with Total Clarity. Clients must also select a Moderate to Significant Risk Tolerance on the Total Clarity Risk Tolerance Questionnaire.

ITEM 6: PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES

This section is not applicable to Total Clarity since Total Clarity does not charge performance based fees.

ITEM 7: TYPES OF CLIENTS

Total Clarity's services are geared toward individuals and high net worth individuals (i.e. a net worth of $1,000,000 or more), trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations or other business entities.

The minimum investment required in the Total Clarity Asset Management Program is generally $100,000 for investment advisory accounts. Accounts below these minimums at times will be accepted on an individual basis at our discretion. Such circumstances include, but are not limited to either additional assets will soon be deposited or the client has other accounts with Total Clarity. You should be aware that in smaller accounts, performance will suffer due to difficulties with diversification of assets and risk controls potentially being compromised.

ITEM 8: METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

8 A. Total Clarity's Advisory Representatives act as portfolio managers for their advisory clients. In that role, they use various investment strategies to reach the Clients' goals and manage investment risk by conducting economic analyses and attempting to identify relevant market trends. Additionally, IARs conduct fundamental analyses, which generally involves assessing a company's or security's value based on factors such as sales, assets, cash flow, market position, expected growth, management, products and services, earnings, and financial structure. The Advisory Representative of PreActive Accounts uses a proprietary algorithm that evaluates many of these items as well as others to assist the Advisor is making security and transaction decisions. This is one of tools that the PreActive Advisory Representative uses to manage clients' accounts.

Investment strategies are also used by IARs to improve the performance and balance the risk of an account. Asset allocation is one of the strategies all Advisors use to attempt to optimize the risk and reward of your portfolio by investing among several asset classes.

While not a standard analysis method used by our Advisors, some Advisors offer services that attempt to time security performance. This essentially means they try to purchase or sell immediately preceding an increase or decrease in a security's price. This type of investing can substantially increase the amount of your brokerage transaction costs due to a higher trading frequency. Also, many mutual funds prohibit excessive trading within their fund in a short period of time. Total Clarity monitors client accounts for excessive trading as well as to ensure investments are appropriate for each client but the PreActive Strategy is an active trading strategy and therefore is expected to have a higher than typical amount of trading. This is one of the reasons the accounts are held at Interactive Brokers, due to the lower transaction costs.

8 B. It is important to understand that investing in securities involves risk of loss, including the potential loss of the principal money you are investing. Therefore, your participation in any of the management programs offered by Total Clarity requires you to be prepared to bear the risk of loss as well as the fluctuating performance of your accounts. The market values of investments are subject to fluctuations based on market conditions.

We do not represent, warrant or imply that the services or methods of analysis we use can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms or insulate you from losses due to major market corrections or crashes. Past performance is no indication of future performance. No guarantees can be offered that your goals or objectives will be achieved. Further, no promises or assumptions can be made that the advisory services offered by Total Clarity or our Advisory Representatives will provide a better return than other investment strategies.

The table below describes some of the risks associated with most types of investing, followed by in 8 C, some investment products that are used in our advisory programs and have risks unique to that particular investment:

Management Risk	The services we offer involve your Advisor developing and implementing an investment strategy for you. A profitable investment strategy inherently involves making decisions about the future behavior of the securities markets as a whole as well as markets for individual securities. Because there is no available method to accurately predict future market behavior, there is no guarantee that any specific investment strategy will be successful.
Market Risk	This is the risk that the value of any security may go up or down at any time due to factors affecting securities markets in general or particular industries.
Interest Rate Risk	This risk affects fixed income securities which can decline in value because of an increase in interest rates; a bond or fund with a longer duration will be more sensitive to rate fluctuations.

Credit Risk	This is the risk that an investor could lose money if the issuer of a fixed income security is unable or unwilling to meet its financial obligations.
Concentrated Investment Strategy Risk	Certain investment strategies are concentrated in a specific sector or industry. Portfolios using this strategy are more likely to sharply increase or decrease in value with changes in the market. Concentrated strategies are more volatile because the risk associated with each company or sector represents a large percentage of your overall portfolio value.
Risk with Shorting Securities and Use of Leverage	The use of leverage in an investment portfolio can magnify any price movements, resulting in high volatility and significant loss of principal. Leverage means the account will use borrowed capital (for an investment), expecting the profits made to be greater than the interest payable. Selling securities short, means to borrow securities and then sell them with the anticipation that the price will go lower than the price at which they were sold runs the risk of losing an amount greater than the initial margin requirements in a relatively short period of time.

8 C. The following are types of investments and related risks that Total Clarity Advisors use in client portfolios:

Mutual Funds:	The risks with mutual funds include the costs and expenses within the fund that can impact performance, change of fund managers and/or the fund straying from its stated investment objective. Open ended mutual funds do not typically have a liquidity issue and the price does not fluctuate throughout the trading day. Interval funds are used in Total Clarity accounts but not PreActive Accounts .
Equity Securities	In general, prices of equity securities are more volatile than fixed income securities, and respond to a number of factors that can affect entire financial markets or industries.
Options:	Certain types of option trading are permitted in order to generate income or hedge a security; namely, the selling (writing) of covered call options or the purchasing of put options on a security. The use of options involves additional risks. The risks of covered call writing include the potential for the market to rise sharply and the security could get called away. The risk of buying long puts is limited to the loss of the premium paid for the put if the option is not exercised or otherwise sold.

Exchange-Traded
Funds (ETFs)

The shares of an ETF commonly represent an interest in a portfolio of securities that track an underlying benchmark or index. A leveraged ETF generally seeks to deliver multiples of the daily performance of the index or benchmark that it tracks. An inverse ETF generally seeks to deliver the opposite of the daily performance of the index or benchmark that it tracks. Inverse ETFs often are marketed as a way for investors to profit from, or at least hedge their exposure to, downward-moving markets. Some ETFs are both inverse and leveraged, meaning that they seek a return that is a multiple of the inverse performance of the underlying index. To accomplish their objectives, leveraged and inverse ETFs use a range of investment strategies, including swaps, futures contracts and other derivative instruments.

ETFs (including leveraged, inverse, and leveraged inverse) trade on an auctionable market. Therefore, there is more price fluctuation with ETFs than with mutual funds since ETFs trade throughout the day, whereas mutual funds are priced once a day. Also, since most ETFs only mirror a market index, such as the S&P 500, they won't outperform the index. A significant amount of principal could be lost in these securities rapidly and tax laws could change and affect the tax treatment of this investment.

Traditional ETFs are generally not actively managed. This means that securities in the portfolio will not be purchased or sold in attempt to take advantage of changing market conditions. A traditional ETF continues to hold securities even though their market value and dividend yields have changed. An ETF generally carries the same investment risk as the portfolio of securities within the ETF. Securities in a portfolio can depreciate, and the ETF does not achieve its intended objective. In addition, each ETF is subject to specific risks that vary depending on each ETF's investment objectives and portfolio composition. Additionally, while premiums and discounts from net asset value ("NAV") are generally small among ETFs, there is a risk for severe dislocation from NAV.

The use of leverage in an investment portfolio can magnify any price movements, resulting in high volatility and significant loss of principal. ETFs do not track the underlying Index due to imperfect correlation between the ETF's portfolio securities and those in the underlying Index, rounding prices, changes to the underlying Index and regulatory requirements. This risk is heightened during times of increased market volatility or other unusual market conditions. Tracking error also results because the ETF incurs fees and expenses while the underlying Index does not.

Non-traditional ETFs, including leveraged and inverse ETFs, are not suitable for most investors. Non-traditional ETFs are trading vehicles in which daily rebalancing and market volatility have a significant impact on the realized return. The effects of mathematical compounding can grow significantly over time, leading to scenarios whereby performance over the long run can differ significantly from the performance (or inverse performance) of their underlying index or benchmark during the same period of time. Leveraged, inverse, and leveraged inverse ETFs are more volatile and riskier than traditional ETFs due to their exposure to leverage and derivatives, particularly total return swaps and futures. In addition, these instruments are typically designed to achieve their desired exposure on a daily (in a few cases, monthly) basis. Holding leveraged, inverse, and leveraged inverse ETFs for longer periods of time increases their risk due to the effects of compounding and the inherent difficulty in market timing. Non-traditional ETFs are volatile and not suitable for all investors. Positions in non-

Exchange-Traded Funds (ETFs) (continued)	traditional ETFs should be monitored closely due to their volatile nature and inability to track the underlying index over an extended period of time. Non-traditional ETFs are not intended to be held long term. ETFs over a period longer than one day can differ significantly from their stated performance objectives. Some ETFs are thinly traded which could impact the ability to sell shares quickly. Non-traditional ETFs and futures-linked ETFs enter into total return swaps with a counterparty. If the counterparty becomes unable to deliver its share of the contract, it will default on the swap, therefore negatively affecting the value of the non-traditional ETFs.
Structured Products:	Used less frequently, structured products are securities derived from another asset such as a security or a basket of securities, an index, a commodity, a debt issuance, or a foreign currency. Structured products frequently limit the upside participation in the reference asset. Depending upon the underlying asset or product, there can be different risks associated with the product. An investor in a structured product never has a claim on the underlying investment. At times there is little or no secondary market. Tax treatment is different than other investments. Structured CDs that are insured by the FDIC are subject to applicable FDIC limits.
